Project description:

The Partnership for Good Governance aims to help the EU's six Eastern Partner countries move closer to European standards on human rights, democracy and the rule of law. Working closely with national authorities and other stakeholders, the programme helps bring about changes to laws and practices through reviews of legislation, improving the efficiency of public institutions, training courses for professionals and sharing of information, experiences and best practices, through county-specific and regional projects.

Expected results:

- Strengthening the rule of law and anti-corruption mechanisms including measures on prevention and combating corruption, as well as measures on prevention and combating money-laundering/terrorist financing;
- Fostering the implementation of key judicial reforms with a view to strengthening the independence, quality and efficiency of the judiciary;
- Providing a quick response mechanism for ad-hoc support of the Venice Commission on a needs basis;
- Assessing the performance of the judiciary.
